what a piece of work is man!

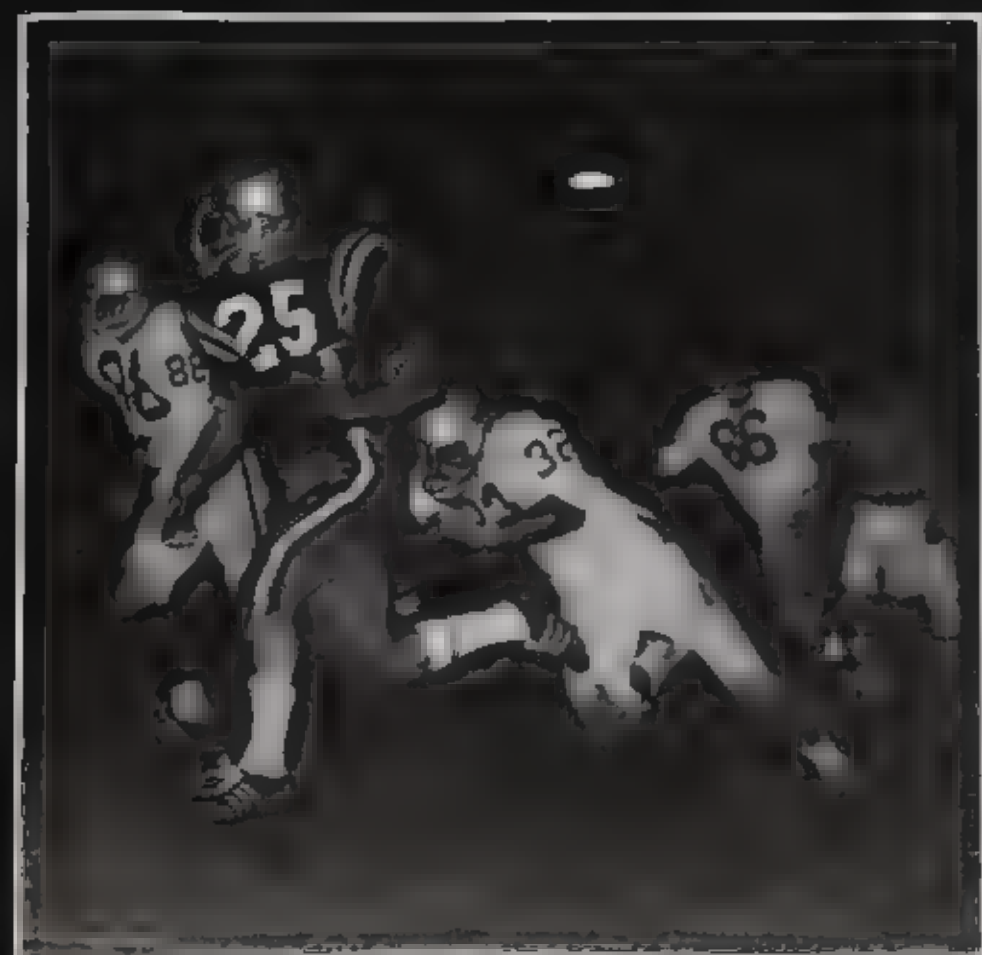

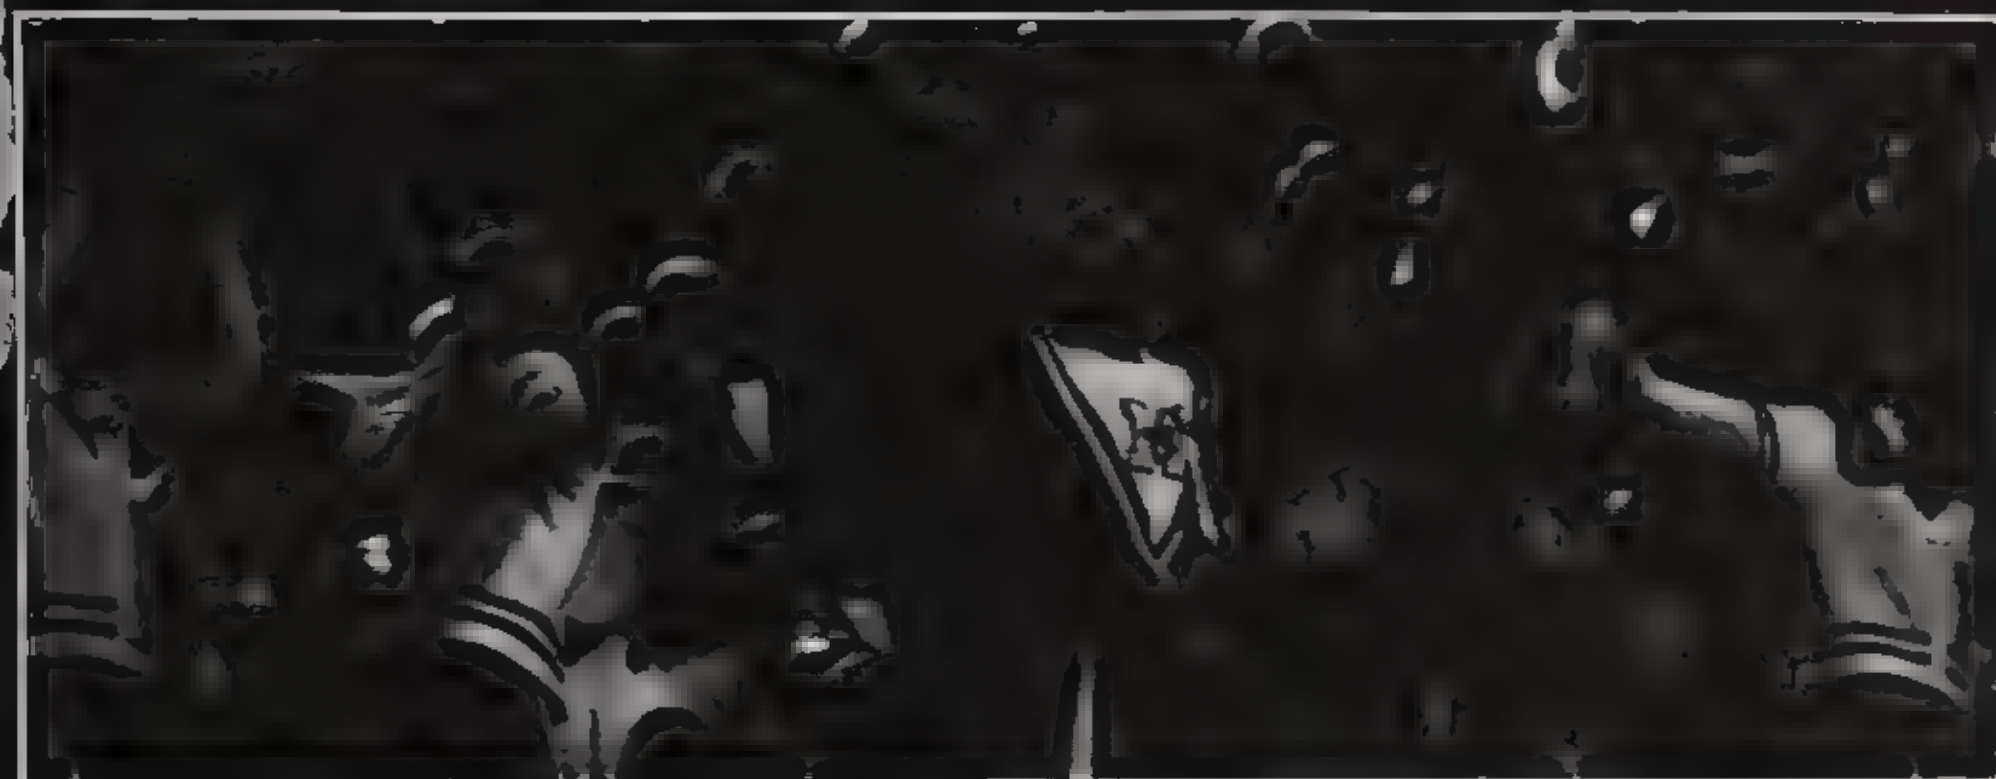

fireworks lit the sky halloween night, and the crowd burst into cheers as senior joyce dawson was crowned mesa's 1970-71 homecoming queen by a.s.b. president, ted tompkins.

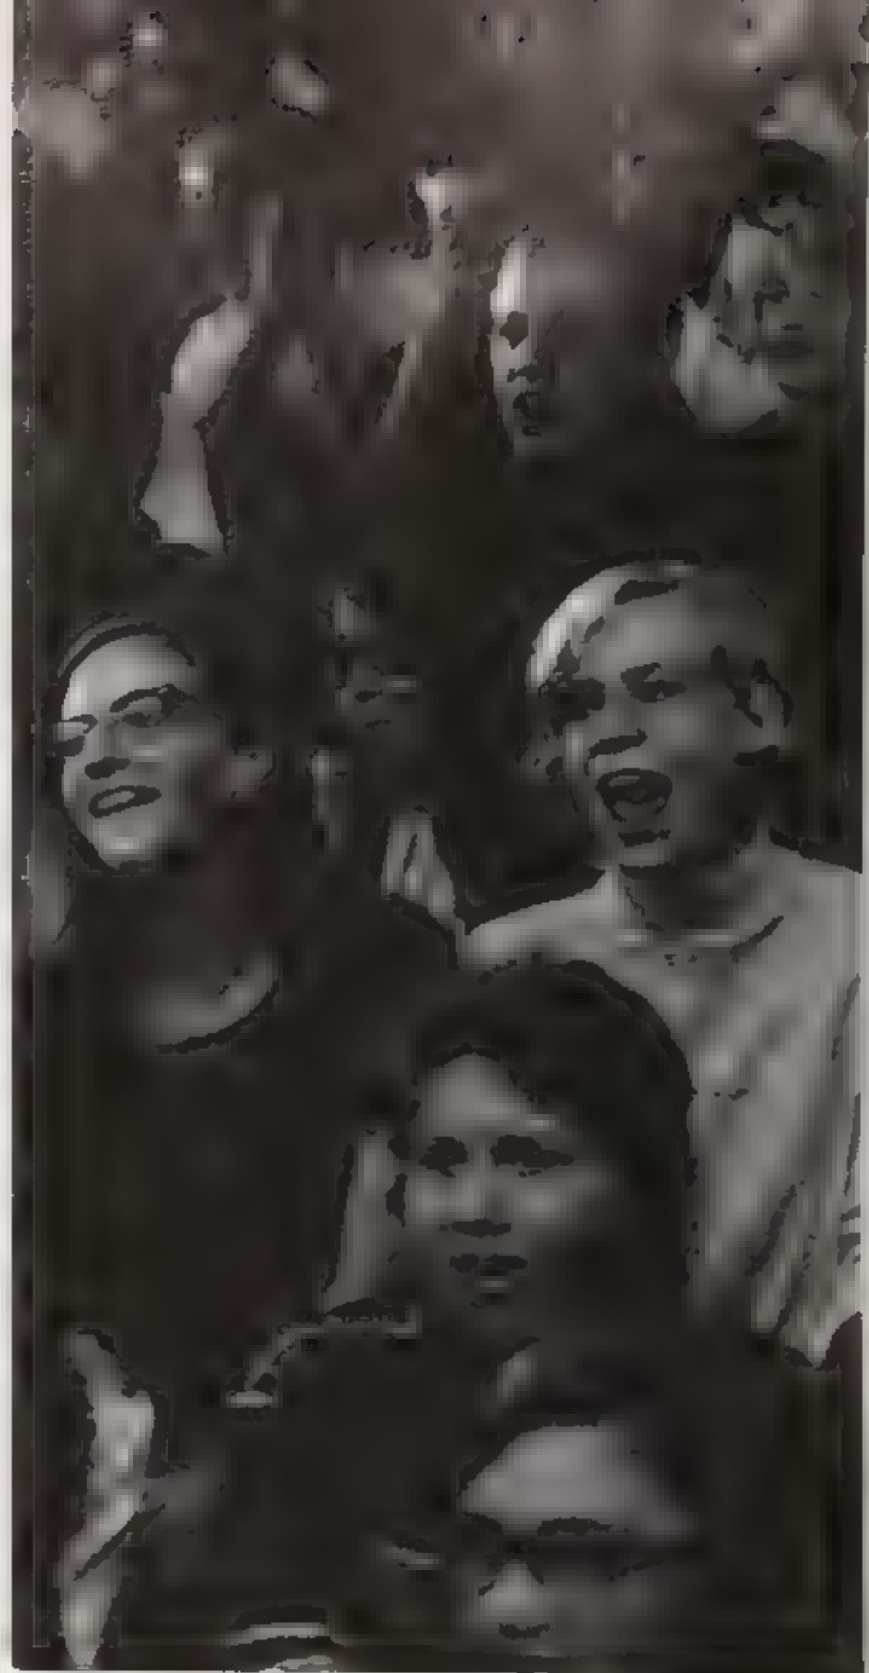

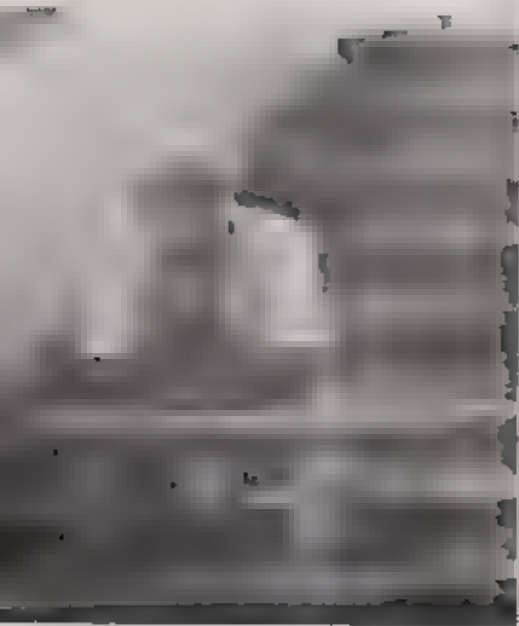

Joyce's senior princesses were Karen Hart escorted by Bill McAnaney, and Beverly Burns accompanied by Mike O'Brien. The court also included junior, Mari Synder, sophomore, Charlotte Lowden and freshmen Carol Hickman. Although the Mustangs lost to Corona del Mar, spirits were high.

they came and cheered through victory and defeat

you can't take it with you

the part of a fool in a comedy is not an easy one and it must be no simpleton who plays the part.

christmas week

it all began with a sign on the english building saying "merry christmas", from then until vacation the christmas spirit engulfed the mesa campus. decorations were made and hung in the student union and in the halls. snow paint was used to write yule messages on windows, walls and buildings-- in fact anything. santa and his elves added to the fun by distributing candy and mostly laughs. because mesa students cared enough to bring over 2,000 cans of food for needy families, friday was granted as a half day.

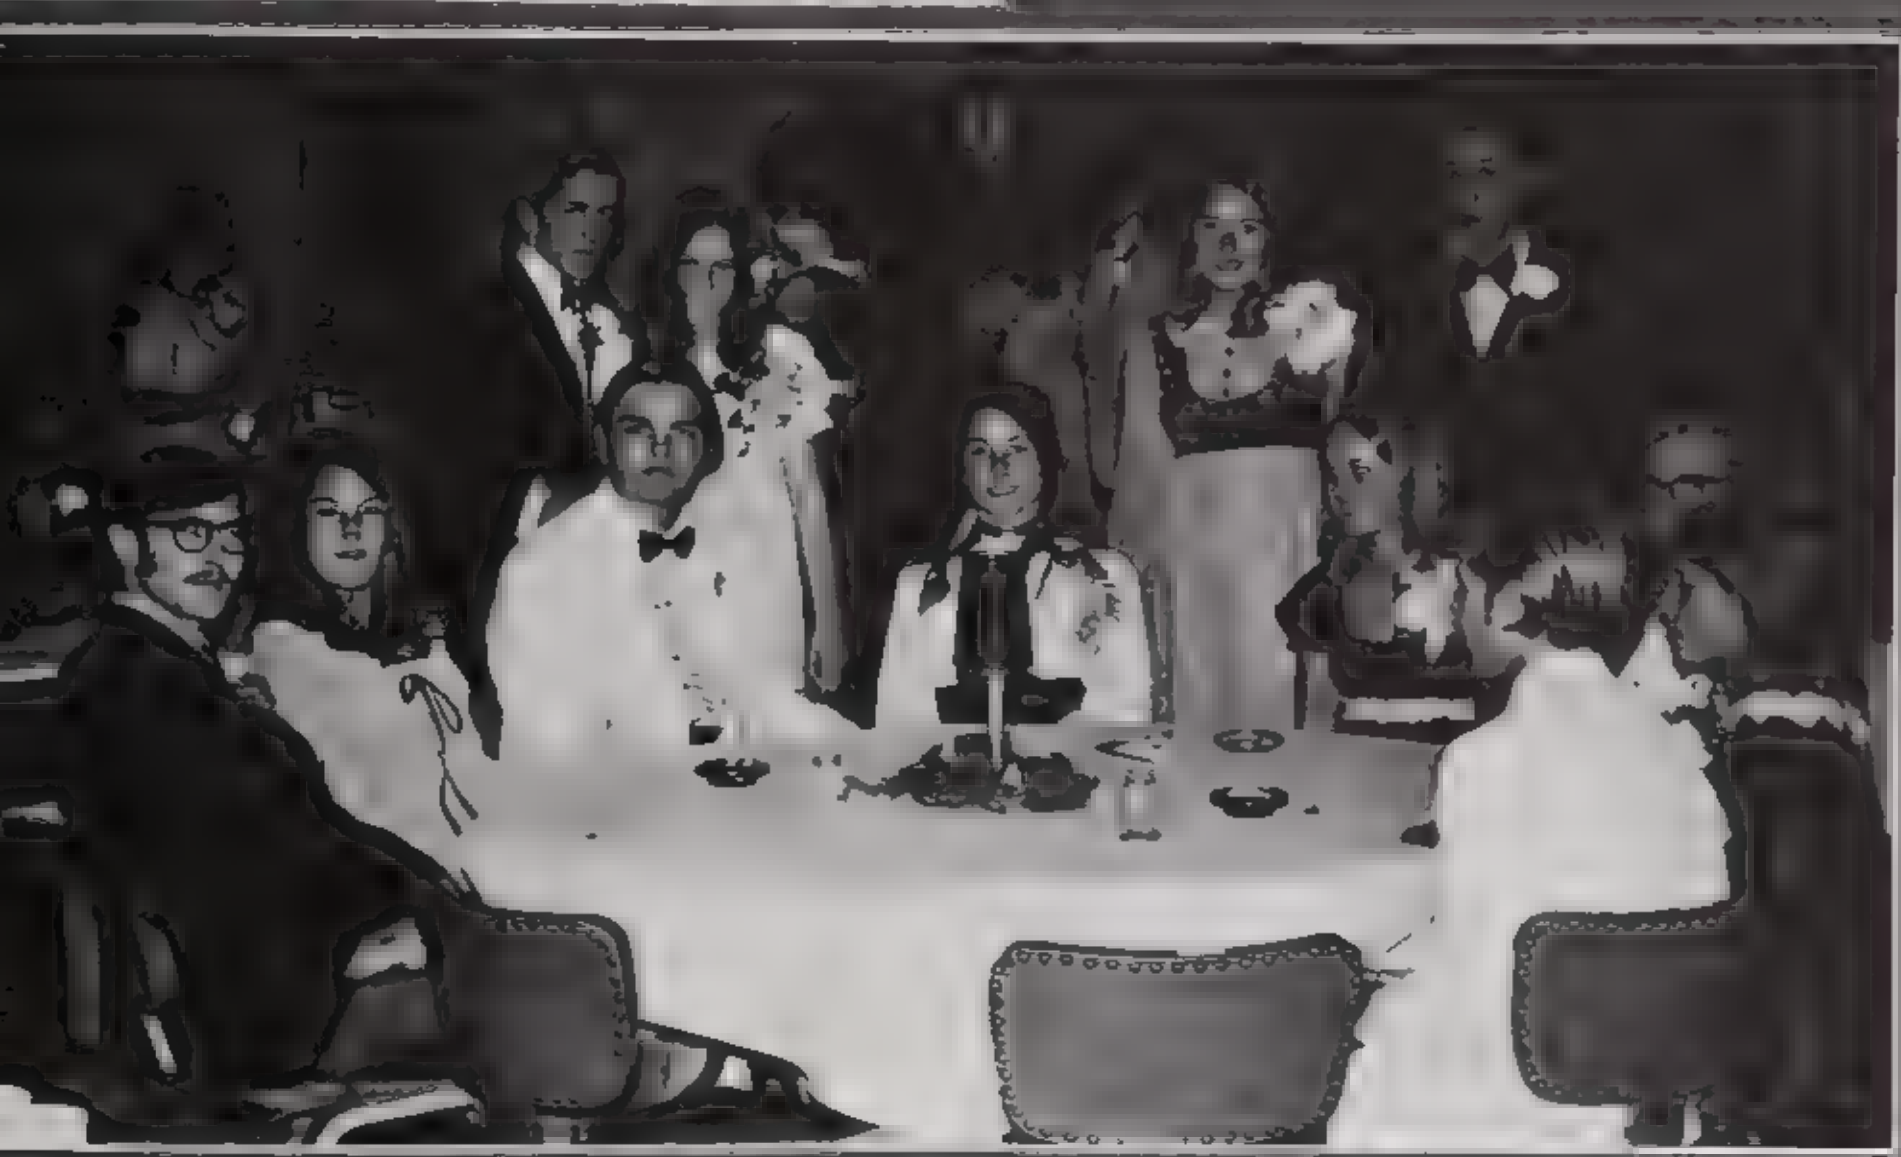

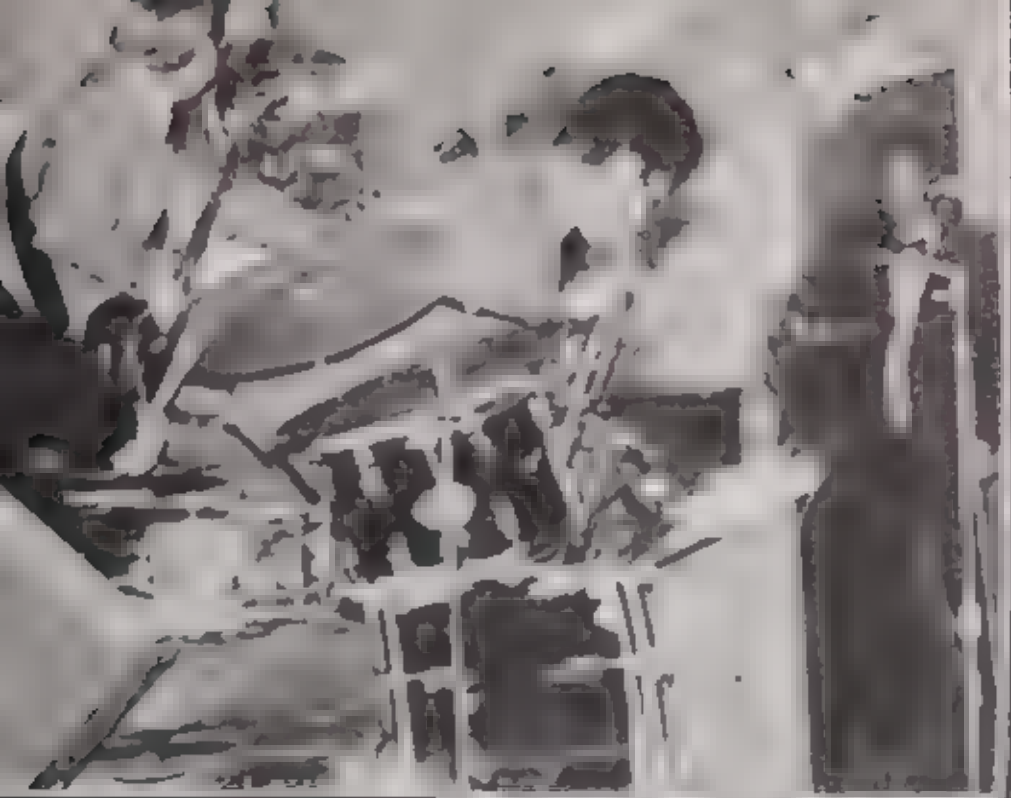

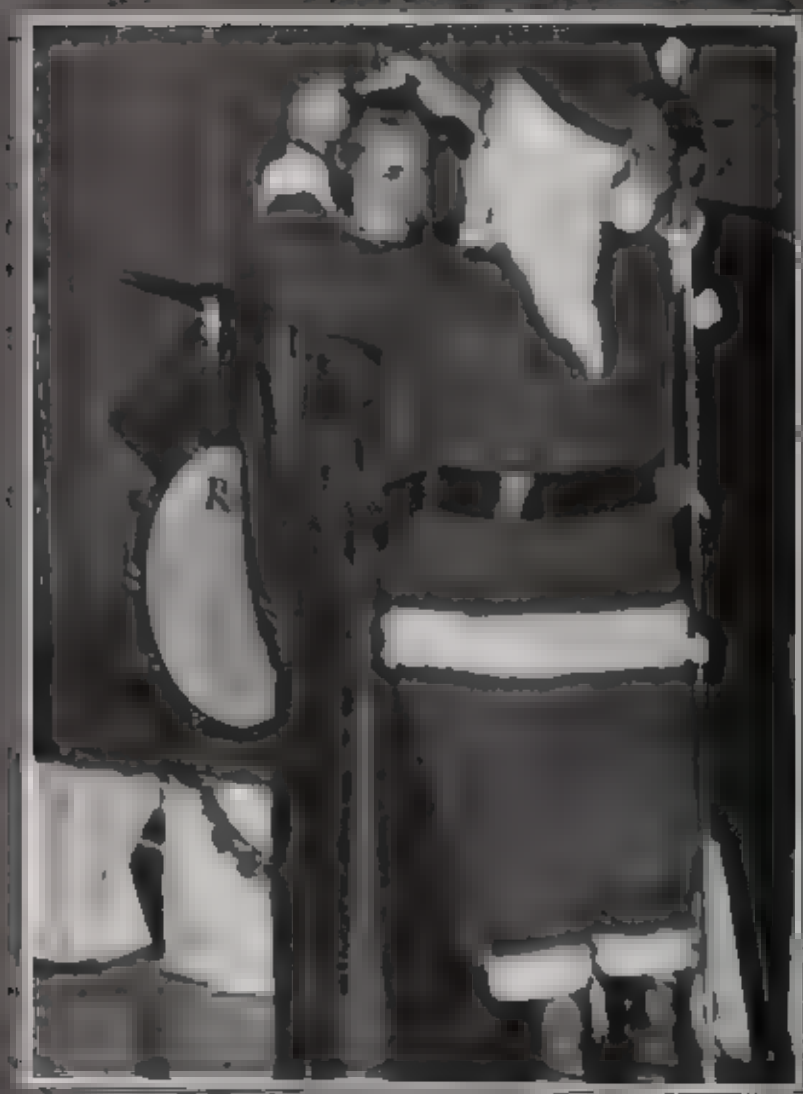

these are a few scenes from "The Little Fish Girl" a play presented by drama club on december 15, 16, and 17. two performances were given daily before approximately 300 elementary school children. these children were bussed to mass and ushered by members of the drama club who were dressed as elves and dwarfs. this was only the first of many childrens plays presented this year.

marty's corral

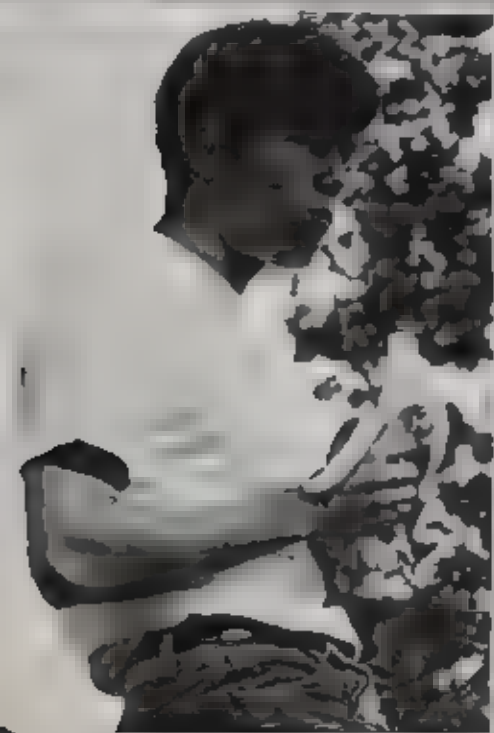

a happening, as the dictionary defines it, is something which takes place or occurs. so much happened at marty's corral; there were booths, rides, games and other attractions, but it was especially the people who made it a happening: people who worked for months before to plan and publicize, people who ran the booths and sold tickets, people who came to have fun, and those who stayed to help clean up after three days of cotton candy, chile dogs, being arrested by the varsity club sheriffs, and getting sick after going on the rides. these are the things and the people which made marty's corral a happening.

decorating the boy's locker room, selling ribbons, painting signs, giving victory cakes to the coaches, "t.p.ing" the football player's houses, at workouts serving gatorade and cookies to freshmen are just a few things pep club members do to promote spirit on our campus. this year pep club has been one of the outstanding organizations for showing their support of mesa's athletic teams.

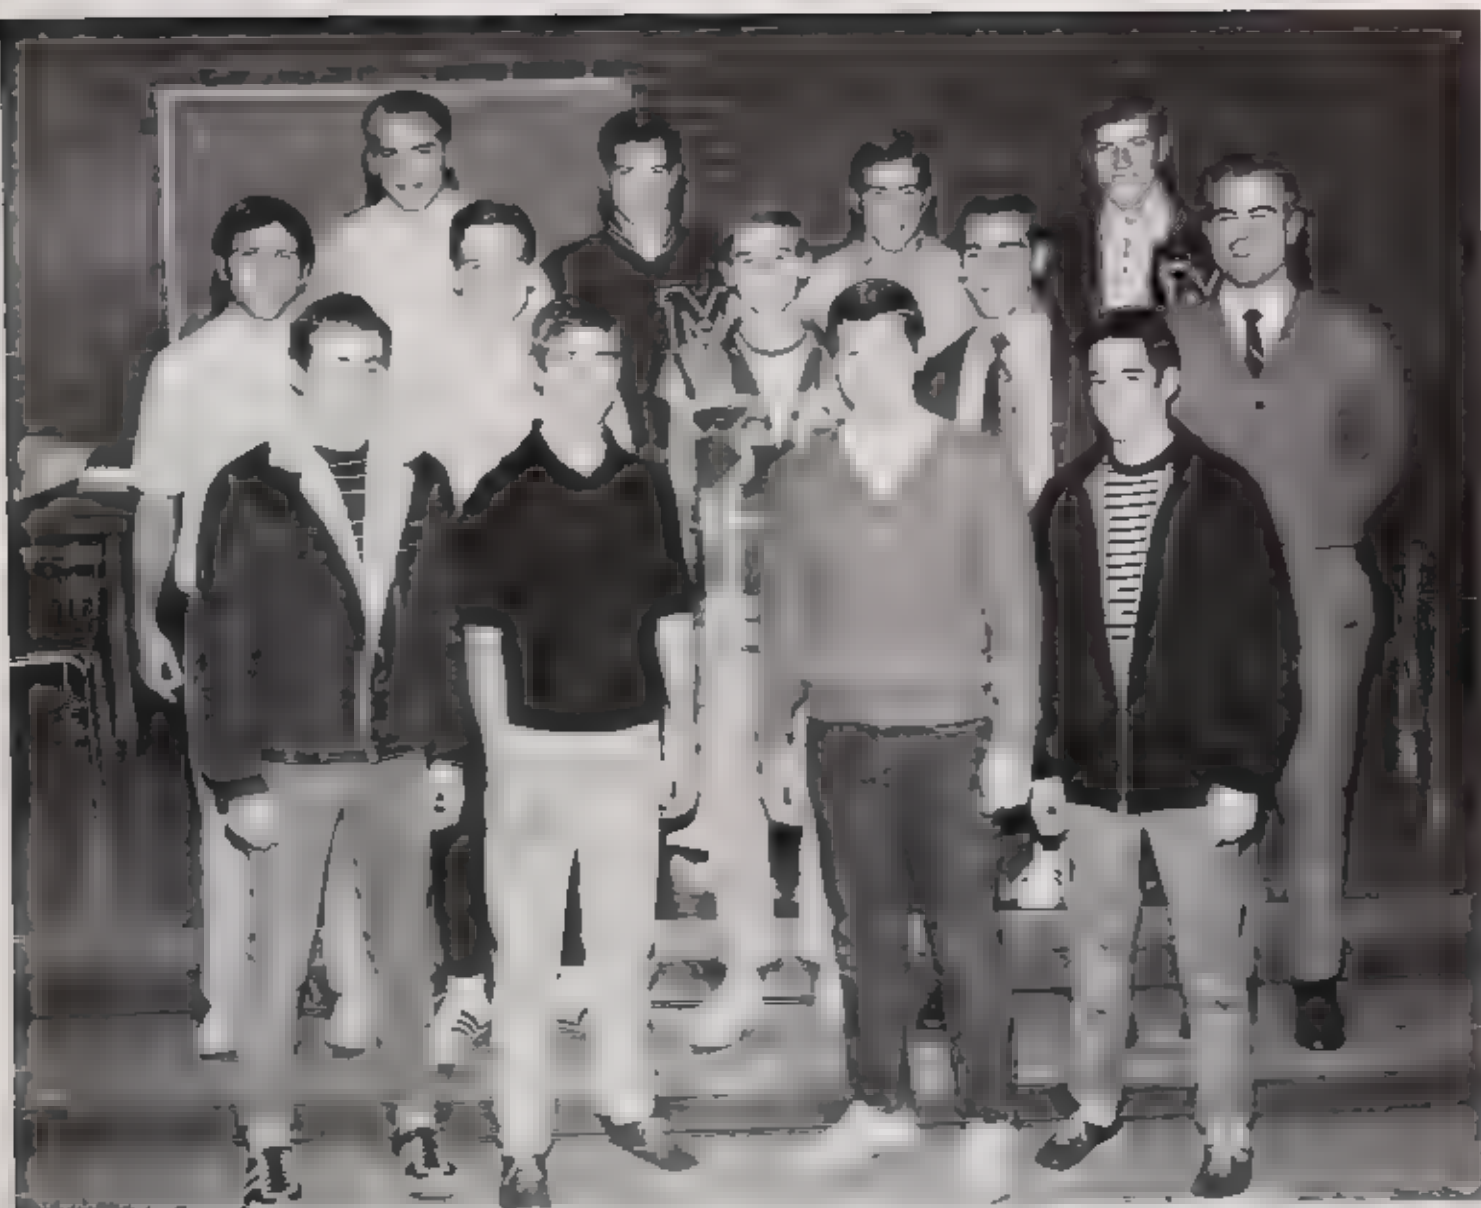

medical careers

fellowship of christian athletes is a club that allows christian athletes to meet and have fellowship with each other. the club meetings are directed mostly to discussions and occasional films and tapes. the spiritual guidance obtained from these discussions help the christian athlete to meet his everyday experience with something stronger than himself.

girl's league is one of the largest organizations on campus, consisting of every girl at mesa. getting off to a great start, girl's league held its frosh orientation for incoming freshman girls. the girls were entertained with a do's and don'ts fashion show and a campus tour. next came the candy cane sale and the christmas formal. this year it was a dinner-dance held at the disneyland hotel. it was decorated to the theme of a "christmas fantasy". prince charming and cinderella were crowned by santa claus. in the spring a slumber party for girls was held in the gym. with elections in may for new officers, the 1970-71 board retired from an eventful and enjoyable year.

it was hard work and everyone learned from it. tempers flared, but friendships remained. eighteen people crowded into one small room, attempting to create a small "masterpiece". through thick and thin, the staff stuck together - hoping that this book would express what each of them felt for this school.

what is e.d.c.? some people say educational development council and others don't know. but this year e.d.c. has become known for what it is. parent forums, surveys, photography festivals, plus the hard work of all the members have made e.d.c. a working and involved part of our school.

ups, downs, highs, lows, super, fantastic moments, and not so super fantastic moments, oops, oh no! no! don't cry, smile! it can be pretty hard, you feel like beating the walls in and pounding your head, but you must always try to smile, and then there's those moments when you're so happy and smiling so hard (this time it's not phony) that it hurts. You jump around, scream, clap, and hug everybody! oh it's wonderful! nobody feels exactly the same way you do, and when it's all over and you raise your head and sing you're heart out, boy do you ever feel super!

the highsteppers

called the costa mesa highsteppers, the drill team has become the best in recent years. commanders jean varney and jane casey have led the highsteppers into many different and interesting formations. as a drill team, they have become an outstanding one in the area.

the "pride" band

the time has finally come, the band is a part of the school. they have worked hard for mesa, many times coming at early hours in the morning to rehearse and perfect music for half-time shows. by participating in football games, pep rallies, and parades, the band has built up a reputation as being part of mesa, which will stand in years to come.

... sometimes, in fact many times we've asked ourselves why? wow! we've felt so helpless and frozen, unable to move or change things. we've tried so hard too! there's been plenty of frustrations, anxieties and disappointments. but the really positive, good thing about all of this was we never really gave up. sure we felt pretty low but there was always "next week". although there were plenty of let downs and painful movements, there was that little bit of joy that produced ecstasy! wow! we'll never forget the magnolia and santa ana valley games.

we learned some things other than football, too. we learned about life itself, and now that we look back we can smile and realize that it really was a great season.

water is closing in on all sides of you. in vain you try to keep yourself on top. finally the water wins and you go under—gulping for air all the way. mesa has many reasons to be proud of our water polo teams. when behind in a game, they fight back to win, this is the way the team works, all together for one cause—to win. the swimmers work out at all hours to better themselves and there are results to prove this. placing second in irvine league and earning fifth in c.i.f. are just two of the honors the team has received. a lot is asked of the water polo players and they give it—down to the very depths that they have.

determination is one thing, but fate is another. this year's varsity basketball team did more to spark spirit at mesa than any other team has in a long time. the team not only won games, but it won them in the last quarter and often in the last few minutes. this resulted in excitement and extreme joy. the basketball team at one time had a chance to enter c.i.f., but a heartbreaking loss shattered the much wanted dream. the guys played a great game and were determined to win, but fate wanted it another way. however the season was one that was exciting and tremendous. the mustangs finished third in irvine league.

wrestling is unlike any other sport on campus. it takes more than just simple dedication or slight interest to be good. a wrestler has to eat certain things, run constantly with many pounds of clothing on, and then workout when he's tired and it's late. if a wrestling team didn't do all these things they wouldn't be good, we are. mesa's wrestlers have more than simple dedication and a slight interest in wrestling. they have spirit to win. and our record proves it.

"swimmers up. take your marks, and the sound of the gun." such are the sounds of swimming. this sport, which most people don't realize, is one of the most challenging and difficult sports to participate in. one must give total dedication to do ones best. besides being physically exacting the sport is also psychologically taxing. it can be a loners sport and at the same time have the qualities of a team sport. as a whole, the swimmers themselves should be recognized as dedicated and highly disciplined athletes.

with the crack of the bat, you take off for second and make it just under the baseman's glove. you have done something for the team by advancing in a position to score. this is the way our baseball team works. not for themselves, but united as a team—together, in order to win. mesa has something to be proud of in the way of our team, they are a team.

heaving a shot put, running one or two miles, throwing the discus, jumping hurdles or a cross bar, and flying way up in the air to stretch your body over the bar on pole vaulting. a person might say, that is all there is to track, but it's not so. it takes much practice to be just good at these events. mesa's track team members try as hard as they can. and that's why they are more than just good, they're the best.

there isn't much publicity about golf, no cheerleaders or fans. despite this seeming 'handicap' our golfers just go out and win. there really isn't a lot made of a victory by mesa's golf team, but there should be. they win, and that is what counts.

all sports are included in g. a. a. and even a few you wouldn't imagine, like yoga and gymnastics. it's fun though, getting thrown in the pool with all your clothes on, having your locker shut when there is only two minutes left to finish dressing before class, decorating a teacher's desk, car, and the teacher with toilet paper, having your locker fumigated with ban, searching in vain for that desperately needed nickel, getting disciplined on the bus for cheering too loud when your team has just won their first and only basketball game. there is much spirit in g. a. a. and it's shown whether we win or not.
